

Phil Morris, sponsorship officer, John Reynolds, former British Superbikes champion and Colin Morris, chairman with memorabilia at this year's event

Celebrations – the Legends' events have raised nearly £85,000 since 2006

Huge plea for memorabilia

by Graham Breeze

AN OSWESTRY organisation that has raised nearly £85,000 for charity since 2006 has launched an appeal for memorabilia.

Road Racing Legends are planning for their seventh event after handing over £22,517 to various charities at their most recent promotion at The Wynnstay Hotel in Oswestry.

And the organisation is hoping that enough money will be raised this year to see donations top the £100,000 mark.

Spokesman Phil Morris said; "The organisation was formed to enjoy the wonder of British motorcycle racing since 1907. We need to protect and preserve the items that made up the sport and put the riders and their bikes into the history books.

Urgent

"We are launching an urgent appeal in search of memorabilia such as helmets, leathers, trophies and even bikes themselves for the purpose of auctions for the benefits of the charities we work so hard to support," he added.

Charities to benefit have included the Air Ambulance, Hope House, Helicopter Fund IOM, Wheelchairs For Injured Riders and donations for the rehabilitation of injured riders.

The theme for the most recent event was British Superbikes and the guests included Superbikers Neil Hodgson, John Reynolds and Chris Walker, while the compere was six-times British champion and Sky Sports presenter Jamie Whitham, patron of the charity.

Anyone interested in supporting the group should contact Phil Morris on (01691) 662082 or 07802 655165.

NEWS